

SuperValue Māori Language Week Resources Conditions of Use

All of the SuperValue Māori Language Week materials are intended for people to print and use for free. That includes daycares, schools, churches, camps, clubs, grandparents, parents, children and librarians.

There are some restrictions to use:

Do not sell any of the materials provided or include any of it for sale as part of a larger package. Do not change any of the images or remove any of the information on the resources without consent. Do not include the material in other printed media without consent.

Consents can be requested by emailing SuperValue Māori Language Week.

If digitally sharing any of the SuperValue Māori Language resources or any photos or information about using the resources via email or any social media sites the responsibility of the content may not represent views or opinions of SuperValue and SuperValue will not make any representations as to the validity, accuracy or completeness of any such content.

SuperValue has no control over any content posted to an entrant's timeline and will be unable to remove any such content. Only entrants will be able to delete their posts from their timeline.